

Children: Psychiatric, Behavioral and Emotional Disorders

Journal Articles & Papers

- Apter, A., Sharir, I., Tyano, S., & Wijsenbeek, H. (1978). Movement therapy with psychotic adolescents. British Journal of Medical Psychology, 51(2), 155-159.
- Bender, L., & Boas, F. (1941). Creative dance in therapy. American Journal of Orthopsychiatry, 11(2), 235.
- Erfer, T. & Ziv, A. (2006). Moving toward cohesion: Group dance/movement therapy with children in psychiatry. The Arts in Psychotherapy, 33, 238-246.
- Gunning, S. V., & Holmes, T. H. (1973). Dance therapy with psychotic children: Definition and quantitative evaluation. Archives of General Psychiatry, 28(5), 707-713.
- Leventhal, M. B. (1980). Dance therapy as treatment of choice for the emotionally disturbed and learning disabled child. Journal of Physical Education and Recreation, 51(7), 33-35.
- Lundy, H., & McGuffin, P. (2005). Using dance/movement therapy to augment the effectiveness of therapeutic holding with children. Journal of Child and Adolescent Psychiatric Nursing, 18(3), 135-145.
- Mentzer, M.C. & Boswell, B.B. (1995). Effects of a movement poetry program on creativity of children with behavioral disorder. Impulse: The International Journal Of Dance Science, Medicine, And Education, 3(3), 183-199.
- Parteli, L. (1995). Aesthetic listening: Contributions of dance/movement therapy to the psychic understanding of motor stereotypes and distortions in autism and psychosis in childhood and adolescence. The Arts in Psychotherapy, 22(3), 241-247.
- Rakusin, A. (1990). A dance/movement therapy model incorporating movement education concepts for emotionally disturbed children. The Arts in Psychotherapy, 17(2), 55-67.

Schmerling, J. & Kerins, M.R. (1987). Stimulating communication in an elective mute: Collaborative interventions. American Journal of Dance Therapy, 10(1), 27-40.

Shennum, W.A. (1987). Expressive activity therapy in residential treatment: Effects on children's behaviors in the treatment milieu. Child and Youth Care Quarterly, 16(2), 81-90.

Zilius, M. N. (2010). Dance/movement therapy in pediatrics: An overview. Alternative and Complementary Therapies, 16(2), 87-92.

Books and chapters from books

Behar-Horenstein, L.S. & Ganet-Sigel, J. (1999). The little girl who thought she was an animal. In The art and practice of dance/movement therapy. (pp. 135-139). Needham Heights, MA: Pearson Custom Publishing.

Lemessurier, C. & Loman, S. (2008). Speaking with the body: Using dance/movement therapy to enhance communication and healing with young children. In D. McCarthy (Ed.) Speaking about the unspeakable: Non-verbal methods and experiences in therapy with children, (pp. 45-59). Jessica Kingsley Publishers.

Payne, H. (1992). Shut-in, shut-out: Dance/movement therapy with children and adolescents. In H. Payne (Ed.) Dance/movement therapy: Theory and practice. (pp. 39-80). Routledge.

Stanton-Jones, K. (1992). Dance/movement therapy in child and family psychiatry. In An introduction to dance movement therapy in psychiatry. (pp. 170-204). New York: Routledge.

Theses & Dissertations

Baker, M.F. (1992). The role of verbalization in dance/movement therapy with emotionally disturbed children (Unpublished master's thesis). Goucher College, Towson, MD.

- Bates, R. (2000). Ritual and dance/movement therapy with emotionally disturbed children (Unpublished master's thesis). Columbia College, Chicago.
- Bouffard, V.M. (1990). The role of mental imagery in the dance/movement therapy treatment process with emotionally disturbed children (Unpublished master's thesis). Goucher College, Towson, MD.
- Buckingham, J.M. (1987). A rationale for family dance therapy for treating the emotionally disturbed child (Unpublished master's thesis). Hunter College, New York.
- Clauer, M. (1993). The application of dance/movement therapy with TJ, a suicidal eight year old boy (Unpublished master's thesis). Goucher College, Towson, MD.
- Cox, J.J. (2000). Dance/movement therapy and the use of transitional objects with an emotionally disturbed child in residential treatment (Unpublished master's thesis). Columbia College, Chicago.
- Fischer, J. (1987). Countertransference in dance/movement therapy with two severely emotionally disturbed girls: A case study (Unpublished master's thesis). Hunter College, New York.
- Friedman, E. (1986). Integration of the "good/bad" split: A dance/movement therapy and dramatic play approach with an emotionally disturbed child (Unpublished master's thesis). Antioch West Graduate School, San Francisco.
- Fuhrmann, H. (1988). A case study about a child with a symbiotic-psychotic syndrome using dance therapy in a short-term setting to build, to intensify and to terminate a therapeutic relationship (Unpublished master's thesis). Langen Institut, Monheim, Germany.
- Glass, H. (1986). Humor as a transformational process in dance/movement therapy with emotionally disturbed preschool children (Unpublished master's thesis). Antioch West Graduate School, San Francisco.
- Govrin, D.H. (1989). Moving towards separation and individuation: Developmentally based dance/movement therapy with an emotionally

- disturbed child* (Unpublished master's thesis). California State University, Hayward.
- Gronlund, E.C. (1994). Children's emotions processed in dance: Dance therapy for children with early emotional disturbances (Unpublished master's thesis). University of Stockholm, Sweden.
- Hoer, C. (1988). Description of dance therapy interventions focusing on the therapeutic relationship: Describing the individual therapy of an eight-year-old boy with a psychosomatic diagnosis (Unpublished master's thesis). Langen Institut, Monheim, Germany.
- Levinbook-Mezamer, M. (1991). Developmental theory, object relations, and dance/movement therapy as combined references for therapy with emotionally disturbed children (Unpublished master's thesis). Lesley College Graduate School, Cambridge, MA.
- Millrod, E.T. (1991). Object relations and play: Building houses in dance/movement therapy with emotionally disturbed children (Unpublished master's thesis). New York University.
- Nielsen, T.L. (1989). The use of fantasy play in the movement therapy of a latency-aged child with aggressive conduct disorder (Unpublished master's thesis). Antioch/New England Graduate School, Keene, NH.
- Omeragic-Mestanagic, G. (1992). Transferences and countertransference in dance movement therapy: A case study of an eight year old child with emotional and behavioral problems (Unpublished master's thesis). Laban Centre for Movement and Dance, London.
- Payza, J.E. (1989). Group rollerdance: A pilot study on the use of play and dance therapy in the teaching of rollerskating to the emotionally disturbed, learning disabled, latency girls (Unpublished master's thesis). Hunter College, New York.
- Robbins, B.D. (1988). The effectiveness of movement strategies in reducing physically aggressive behaviors in five to twelve year-old children hospitalized for severe conduct disorder (Unpublished master's thesis). New York University.

- Ruf, C. (1989). Individual rituals of children as indicative of their psychological development and the effectiveness of dance therapy with a nine-year-old boy showing behavior dysfunctions (Unpublished master's thesis). Langen Institut, Monheim, Germany.
- Ruzic, A. (2002). The influence of individual dance/movement therapy on the development of preschoolers in a partial psychiatric treatment program (Unpublished master's thesis). Drexel University, Philadelphia.
- Schrage, M. (1988). The implementation of role play in therapeutic work with behaviorally imbalanced children (Unpublished master's thesis). Langen Institut, Monheim, Germany.
- Scott, M.L. (1989). Dance movement therapy and the re-creation of the transitional object with seven severely emotionally deprived Black boys (Unpublished master's thesis). Antioch/New England Graduate School, Keene, NH.
- Shaaltiel, M. (1988). A case study of an emotionally disturbed child (Unpublished master's thesis). Hunter College, New York.
- Shmerling, J.D. (1988). The use of Laban Movement Analysis in dance therapy with an emotionally disturbed child (Unpublished master's thesis). Laban Centre for Movement and Dance, London.
- Thomson, S. (1987). The use of specific props and activities to reduce the disruptive behavior of the emotionally disturbed child within the dance/movement therapy session (Unpublished master's thesis). Antioch/New England Graduate School, Keene, NH.
- Visconti, D.M. (1991). A case of an emotionally disturbed girl (Unpublished master's thesis). Hunter College, New York.
- Weikers, V. (1989). The movement parameters of and the efficacy of movement therapy with environmentally traumatized emotionally disturbed preschool children: A case study (Unpublished master's thesis). Drexel University, Philadelphia.